SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

While the celebration of Independence Day this year will not be as big as last, nevertheless members of the Truckee Volunteer Fire Department are exerting every effort to give the best they possibly can. They have arranged for a small convention that should attract scores to town and will sponsor three dances and other program features to keep visitors and local folks entertained during the holiday season. Their efforts warrant your wholehearted support. After all they are doing a great thing in arranging for even a mild observance of the Fourth.

Vigilance of local officers, coupled with the efficiency of the state's border teletype station is making it harder and harder for criminals to ge through Truckee. This has been evidenced here time and again and only this week a burglar suspect who had evaded officers from here to the coast was snared by local police and returned to face trial. We are fortunate in having this protection and should value our officers and border station highly.

Now that the 53rd session of the California State Legislature is history, except for the threatened special session, we urge our readers to show the proper appreciation that is due to our legislators SenatorJ. L. Seawell of Roseville and Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman of Colfax for the ability, diligence and conscientiousness with which they represented the interests of the Truckee-Lake Tahoe area. They fought for our established fishing season, they used their influence to obtain a game warden for th region, they fought to save our border checking stations and left no stone unturned to better road conditions here. We say to them, "Well done, good and faithful servants!"

Safe driving is urged at this season of the year more than at any other time. Thousands of motorists will be flocking to our fine highways, bent toward having a good time. Many of them will be careless, that's to be expected, but it means that those who are inclined to be safe drivers must use more caution to avoid the mishaps which are likely to occur. Horrible statistics have proven the dangers of motoring and they also prove the value of safe driving. Be safe and not sorry!

POPULATION OF THIS COUNTY MORE THAN DOUBLES IN 8 YEARS

SACRAMENTO, June 29— Population of Nevada County has increased an estimated 10,904 persons since the 1930 census, State Controller Harry B. Riley disclosed today in a report showing a state-wide increase of nearly 19 per cent. The figures, based on estimates of county auditors, are contained in Riley's report of city and county financial transactions for 1938.

Nevada County's population rose from 10,596 in 1930 to 21,500 last year, the report indicates, an increase of 102.9 per cent.

Population of the state pumped 1,076,732 to a new high of 6,753,983 persons in 1938 as compared to 5,677,251 in 1930. California's increase in the eight-year period nearly equalled the population of the state of Florida shown in the last Federal Census.

Twenty-one counties registered an increase of 10,000 or more. Five of the smaller counties more than doubled heir population; one of hem, Trinity County, nearly trebled its number of residents, Riley's report revealed. Smallest county in California is Alpine with 550 residents, an increase of 309 over 1930.

Veterans Reject Proposed Plans For Local Hall

Will Urge Supervisors Next Saturday To Make Changes

VOTE WAS 3 TO 2

Design Fails To Meet Full Approval of Local Veterans

By a vote of two to three the building committee of Truckee Post 439, American Legion, Tuesday rejected all current plans and alterations for the proposed $38,000 Veterans' Memorial Building here and have so instructed the board of supervisors.

The plans, as approved by the board this month and submitted for the approval of the post here, were nearly identical, with the exception of the size, to the originally proposed plans and agreed upon by all concerned. Minor changes from the original plans to meet the finances on hand were explained by Architect George Sellon of Sacramento, who attended the special meeting.

Three members of the committee, Charles Winslow of Lake Tahoe, Jack Wolert and H. O. Anderson, failed to approve of the arrangement as planned and which members of the post were informed would have permitted immediate construction and ruled that the plans be rejected with a proposal that an entire new set be drawn up. Other members of the committee, James McIver, Jr., the chairman and Commander Walter Barrett, voted to accept the plan as presented.

Wolert, Anderson and Winslow plan to attend a meeting of the board of supervisors Saturday to explain objections to the proposed structure and request the new plans. Supervisor Alex Robertson, who has been work with the veterans toward early construction of the hall, said there was little chance of having the altered arrangements completed so that work can be started this year.

MODERN MERCHANDISING RESULTS IN FOURTH DRUG STORE BEING OPENED BY TRUCKEEITE TO SERVE LEADING TRUCKEE-TAHOE CENTERS

From a small, inadequate store manned by a crew of three employes, to four modern establishments employing a staff of twenty, including five registered pharmacists and with an ivestment exceeding $60.000.000. the Loynd Truckee Drug, under the management of E. L. Loynd, has reflected what modern, intelligent merchandising, sound business judgment, coupled with reasonable prices and consistent, constructive advertising can do in the Truckee-Tahoe area.

This week Loynd opened his fourth store, pust short of eight years from the time he arrived in Truckee on July 24, 1931. The new establishment at Tahoe City is a model drug store in all respects, embracing a complete line of all better types of merchandise, displayed in the latest style equipment. The fountain is one of the best obtainable at any cost, equipped with back stools, latest designed syrup pumps, dishwashers and all the appointments that add to the conveniences of the clerks and service to the patrons.

Two registered pharmacists are on duty at the Tahoe City store where prescriptions are carefully and quickly filled.

Seeing the possibilities for development of the great Truckee-Tahoe region, Loynd after three years in Truckee opened the King's Beach store five years ago, equipping the modern store and stocking it with all stndard brands of merchandise and drug accessories at city prices. The next year Homewood branch store, equally well stocked and equipped, was opened for the convenience of patrons in that vicinity and provedan asset to the region.

Ast ime passed, the region developed and today the four modern drug stores are serving the four leading centers in the resort region, offering standard quality with a service and price unexcelled even in cities of major importance.

FOURTH OF JULY—1939

In recent years the American pepople have tended to observe the annivresary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence as a gay but routine celebration of liberty as an accomplished and permanent condition. But foriegn hostility to American Democracy is as sinister today as in 1776. For at that time, ideals were taking root swiftly. Despotism was crumbling in France; the French Revolution was already an undersground rumble. On the very floor of the House of Commons the English statesman Edmund Burke flung the cause of the colonists into the teeth of arrogant George III, in his famous "Speech on Concilition".

Today the comparative freedom slowly won by the Italian and German people under limited monarchical government is gone. Russia hs exchanged the despotism of the czars for the more ruthless absolutism of a dictator. A military clique rules Spain. Formidable radical minorities 'bore from within' in France. Fascists openly campaign for power in conservative old England.

Here, too, malcontents "bore from within"—all the more dangerously because of the liberty we prize protects them! Here in California, and in many other states, Communists—sworn enemies of the Bill of Rights—openly present candidates for public office. Nazi "bunds" convene in American halls to venerate the Swastika and sneer the American flag.

July 4, 1939, should be a day for serious thinking by every American. Let us celebrate, as always, the boon of freedom that the blood of our ancestors won for us. But on that day let us also remember that "eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty", and rededicate ourselves to the rigid guardianship of that freedom.

BRICKBATS AND BOUQUETS

With Secretary of Interior Ickes unloosing his verbal artillery against newspapers not so long ago, nd Secretary o Agriculture Wallace last week hailing them "as the best in the world," people may be led to think the value of newspapers is solely a matter of opinion, depending largely on what their commentators had for breakfast.

But such is not the case. An analysis undertaken by a disinterested research organization has measured, in the cool and temperate language of statistics, newspaperdom's progress in presenting an ccurate, uncolored picture of history-in-the-making. After analyzing the contents of the typical metropolitan and small-town newspaper of 1889 and 1939, it reports that the average reader gets 250 to 500 per cent more informtion, and with more accuracy and less bias, than did his grandfather. The actual wordage of educational material has gained more than 150 per cent. The enormous increase in material on health and science, the wealth of explanatory background matter, the columns of nationally known by-line commentators—often expressing views contrary to the nwspaper's editorial policy—testify plainly to the effort of newspapers to hold a clear mirror to the world of today.

Let the brickbats ad bouquets fall where they may, the evidence speaks for itself.

THE TOURISTS ARE COMING

The tourists are coming is sweet music in California ears. For men and women vacation-bent are almost invariably free spenders and their money seeps through the entire economic structure of this broad state of ours. Close to 40,000 "foreign" cars, bearing more than 103,000 passengers, crossed California's borders in May—marking a good improvement over May, 1938. And 21,700 more people entered the Golden State via passenger stages and the railroads cme through with a larger ratio than before.

"Any political philosophy that encourages a man to give up his fight for a successful life, to lean on a shovel for $65 a month, is doing something irreparable to his self respect." —W. S. Murray, credit executive, San Francisco.

Who in '40?

(by FRANKLYN WALTMAN)
(Washington Political Observer)

* * * *

One of the most significant developmens in the current political situation is the apparent realization on the part of journalistic mouthpieces for so-called liberals that the sands of time are running low for the New Deal. We refer, especially, to recent articles and editorials appearing in the weekly periodicals, The Nation and The New Republic, undoubtedly the most ardent supporters President Roosevelt and the New Deal has had.

Although still loyal to Franklin Roosevelt, the editors of these two journals are without enthusiasm over prospects of a third term. Electing a President for a third term is so contrary to all liberals have stood for, that their attitude is understandable. Nor do the editors of these periodicals feel sure Mr. Roosevelt could be reelected even if he succeeded in obtaining a third nomination. Yet they do not see in New Deal ranks any satisfactory successor to Mr. Roosevelt.

Thus they are at present in a very unhappy state of mind. Not only are they pessimistic regarding the future prospects for what they euphemistically term the liberal movement, but they are, at long last becoming disillusioned regarding the effectiveness of the New Deal. This pessimism and disillusionment have been given expression in recent issues of the two periodicals.

For instance, The New Republic has pust completed a series of three articles under the title "After The New Deal"—which, of course, in itself presupposes the end of what has been going on in Washington for the past six years. The Nation, likewise, has a series of articles running, under the title: "This Is America." At this writing two of the series have appeared.

"The Middle West is drifting conservative," commences the first article, written by William L. White, son of Kansas' famous editor, who goes on to say: "The gentle, stady movement started last summer and was chronicled in the fall elections. It has since continued at the same rate. It is not a rip-tide which cannot be checked, but I see nothing on the present horizon that will do so."

The second article in The Nation series, written by Arville Schaleben, assistant city editor of the Milwaukee Journal, has to do with the North Central States of Michigan, Wisconsin and the two Dakotas.

"Mr. Roosevelt," writes Mr. Schaleben of sentiment in those states, 'seems eliminated as a possible successful candidate—by his own acts to some extent, by conditions to a larger extent, by the third term tradition to a fatal extent. And the North Central States are sitting back waiting—waiting to pin back somebody's ears, a long drooping pair of ears that belong to a donkey whose 1940 prospects shape up like this:

"In Michigan and South Dakota the Democratic Party faces almost certain defeat, even if the United States is at war and the nation is pregnant with economic recovery. In Wisconsin and Minnesota it faces probable defeat—almost certain in Minnesota owing to the shrewd way in which the liberal, young Republican Governor Stassen has routed the Farmer-Labor Party and taken over the GOP—unless pronounced economic recovery sets in by fall and continues until November, 1940. Even in tha case defeat is as likely as victory. In North Dakota a Democratic defeat is quite probable, with chances favoring an overwhelming upset."

What is the reason fort his state of affairs? Mr. Schaleben says "it is no mystery," adding that "the people are sick of unemployment and economic strife, tired of relief, and sour with disappointments."

Incidentally, in the issue of The Nation containing this article also appears a vigorous statement opposing a third term for Mr. Roosevelt from the pen of Oswald Garrison Villard, former editor and owner of he periodical and one of America's fighting liberals. Mr. Villard unqualifiedly opposes a third term, continuing thusly:

"I should take this position if I felt that the Roosevelt Administration were 100 per cent successful all along the line instead of being in very considerable degree a failure, a direct invitation to the elctorate to choose once more a conservative to office. The ten million unemployed, the huge deficit, the boundless waste and extravagance in administration, and the constant playing of politics—these are the measure of Mr. Roosevelt's partial failure.

"What we need is not a continuance of this Administration but a different kind—not a reactionary one, of course, but one hat is progressive and also capable of economy, efficiency and constructive concentration upon the economic problems that menace the very existence of the Republic."

Turning to The New Republic, we find Bruce Bliven, editor of that periodical, asserting that "all the available evidence indicates that the trend towards conservatism which appears so emphatically in the congressional elections last year has widened and deepened since then."

"The renewal of the depression," writs Mr. Bliven, "is of course an important factor in the situation. Ten years after the depression began and six years from the first Roosevelt inaugaral, we still save ten or eleven million unemployed and a general business index in the neighborhood of ninety. We can no longer say that the United States is merely sharing in a world-wide depression; the figures of the League of Nations show that nearly every other industrial country in the world is doing better than we, some of them tremendously better."

Further on Mr. Bliven asserts that "it is easy to see that the New Dealers talked too much and did too little" and he adds that "the New Dealers need to sit down and take stock of themselves, in light of the very real danger that the sands are running out for them."

No sharper indictment of Roosevelt and the New Deal has appeared in the Republican press than the Villard-Bliven observations—no more depressing prospect for the Democrats than that recorded by The Nation in the Schabelen article. Publication of such observations by such men in such journals is evidence of the disintegration of the New Deal too clear to need further comment.

Responsibility For Rail Employees Shifted From State Agency to Board

SACRAMENTO, June 29— Effective July 1, the State Department of Emplyment will no longer be responsible for payment of unemployment insurance to railroad workers.

This announcement was made last week by John Horn, member of the Unemployment Reserves Commission and one of the representatives of labor on the Commission.

Horn said advices from the Social Security Board have instructed the Commission to refer all railroad employee claimants for insurance to the Claims Agents designated by the Railroad Retirement Board.

The State, however, will re-determine claims of those persons whose earnings have been in employment subject to the Railroad Retirement Act, and other employers. It will continue to pay benefits to all those persons on the basis of their earnings in employment other than that covered by the act until such claims are exhausted.

Horn also announced that claimants who have had earnings in railroad work and in other work may file calims after July 1 with either the Department of Employment or the Railroad Retirement Board, but may not receive benefits at the same time from both agencies.

He also advises that railroad workers who are now drawing benefits based only on railroad work must file new claims with the Railroad Retirement Board in order to draw benefits after July 1 even though they have not drawn all the benefits which had been prviously awarded by the state department.

MONO FISH HATCHERY INSPECTED BY OIL MAN

One of the most interesting developments in extensive trout propagation in California is reported by W. A. Reanier, manager of white oil sales of the Tide Water Associated Oil Company. Reanier has just returned from an extensive trip through the entire Inyo-Mono area where, in company of Wobert L. Brown, executive secretary of the Inyo-Mono Association, he visited the Hot Creek Fish Hatchery in Mono County.

The hatchery, located at Hot Creek, which is fed by hot springs in the vicinity, has made startling progress in developing trout for planting lakes and streams in the area. Started 3 years ago with a brood stock of "Fall spawning Rainbow" of only 300, the present brood stock has increased to 7000, one to two years old.

During the first year the Hot Creek hatchery raised 200,000 trout for planting, which ranged from four to seven inches. This year 700,000 trout hve been raised. With increased facilities for the hatchery, which are now being sought, it will be possible to raise for planting 5,000,000 trout annually.

As a result of this exceptional development, fishing conditions in June Lake are the best in many years. The heda waters of the Owens River are also productive of unusually fine catches according to Reanier and travel into the area is the heaviest in many years as a result.

State Senator Rumored As Possible U. S. Senator In Next Year's Election Here

Senator D. Jack Metzger of Redding today appeared to be the latest possible entrant in the race for United States Senator at the 1940 election. Metzger did not deny a report that he would run and associates said he is considering the step seriously.

Metzger, a state senator, is a registered Republican and would oppose Senator Hiram W. Johnson, incumbent, and Lt. Gov. Ellis E. Patterson, a nominal Democrat, for the pos. Patterson announced that he will open headquarters shortly in his drive for the Democratic nomination.

McNutt En Route Home - Silent

SAN FRANCISCO— Paul V. McNutt, U. S High Commissioner of the Philippines, arrived in the United States to begin what is believed to be a tour to test the prospects of a Democratic McNutt For President campaign for 1940. Here McNutt is shown with his wife, right, and his daughter, Frances, aboard the liner Pres. Coolidge which carried them to San Francisco McNutt refused to comment on his prospects or intentions at this premature time.

U. S. Leads in Horsepower

The ten countries leading in developed water power and the installed capacity, in horsepower, of water wheels in each, according to these estimates were as follows: First, United States, 17,949,000; second, Canada, 8,191,000; third Italy, 6,000,000; fourth, France, 5,400,000; fifth, Japan, 4,800,000; sixth, Germany, 4,000,000; seventhc, Norway, 3,000,000; eighth, Switzerland, 2,800,000; ninth, Sweden, 2,200,000; tenth, U. S. S. R., 1,630,000.

A statement of the capacity of machinery installed in the different countries, however, does not complete the picture. For example, in such countries as Canada and Norway, which have abundant water-power resources, the electrical output of the water wheels is greater per horsepower installed than in other countries, such as France and Germany, whose resources are not so great. In Canada and Norway only the best sites are utilized and at these sites only so much machinery is installed as can be operated throughout a large part of the year with the water available, whereas in countries where the demand for power is great and the potential water-power resources small, machinery is installed to use water power that is available for only a small part of the year, power for the remaining period being supplied by steam

Copies of the estimate, which gives the potential as well as the developed water power of the various countries may be obtained free from the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

* * * *

The capacity of the water wheels in the constructed plants of the world, according to estimates made by the Geological Survey, U. S. Department of Interior, was 23,000,000 horsepower in 1920, 29,000,000 at the end of 1923, 33,000,000 at the end of 1926, 46,000,000 at the end of 1930, 55,000,000 at the end of 1934, 60,000,000 at the end of 1938, an increase of about 180 per cent in 18 years.
